REPORT

On the 21st of March, Zankhana Trivedi conducted a comprehensive session on a range of topics that included the EPF, empowerment for women, personality development, and finance management. Her discourse on EPF provided valuable insights into how it serves as a financial backbone for employees, offering a sense of security and stability. The segment on women's empowerment was particularly impactful, as she discussed the importance of financial independence and self-reliance for women, linking it to broader aspects of personality development. By integrating personal finance management into the conversation, she underscored the significance of financial literacy as a key component of one's personality, which can lead to empowered decision-making in both personal and professional spheres.

Teaching and nonteaching faculty, IIIrd. Sem B.Sc. Nursing & 3rd year GNM students were present during the program. We are immensely grateful to our esteemed Principal and Vice Principal for their invaluable guidance and support, which were the cornerstone of the program's success.
